WASHINGTON

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 18

MR. WEBSTER AND THE PRESIDENCY .- A public meeting of the citizens of Boston, in favor of the nomination of the Hon. Daniel Webster as a candidate for the Presidency, was held in Cochituate Hall, in that city, on Friday, the Hon. Benjamin Seaver presiding. Enthusiastic speeches were delivered by T. B. Curtis, Wm. Hayden, George T. Curtis, Frederick Emerson, and Major Abbott; and three hundred delegates were appointed to represent Boston in the State convention of the friends of Mr. Webster.

The New Orleans Crescent announces, upor what it states to be "reliable" authority, that Mr. Webster intends to visit that city some time in February next, and it proposes that an appropriate reception be prepared for him.

CHEAP POSTAGE.—A public meeting will be held at the Exchange, New York, to-morrow afternoon, for the purpose of taking postage reform into consideration. The Herald says is hopes "it will be well attended; for a more abominable law than the present postage law was never enacted by Congress. It was framed by the present head of the Post Office Depart-'ment-a small county lawyer, who is utterly · incompetent to understand anything connected " with such an establishment." Mr. Hall is not so bad as all that; but he certainly did defeat a good law, and procure the passage of a miserable substitute.

The Spanish troubles will all be settled amicably; and some persons think Mr. Webster will recede, for expediency's sake, from the grounds he has heretofore occupied. We hope not. We have very great faith in him in these affairs. The Minister of Spain, Don Calderon de la Barca, is a gentleman of great ability, attainments, amiability, and discretion. All will end well for the present; but what the next fillibustering expedition may provoke, we cannot guess. We think we had better buy the island. and connect it by a bridge to our main land.

JAPANESE AT WASHINGTON .- We see it stated, but know not upon what authority, that the Government will bring to Washington, the coming winter, the Japanese officers and crew picked up at sea by an American vessel, and carried into San Francisco. They will be entertained at the public expense, and shown our public works and institutions, extent of navigation, commerce, &c. They are said to be intelligent, and will be able, when they are sent home, to give such an account of this country as may possibly tend to aid the efforts of the Government to obtain a commercial treaty with Japan. Commodore Shubrick was sent out in the United States frigate Susquehanna to Japan, with a letter from the President to the Emperor, the object of which was to open a commercial intercourse. But the Susquehanna never got beyond Rio Janeiro, and is there likely to be detained long for repairs.

The iron interest will prove potential in the approaching Congress. The duty will be increased. Millions are being expended for Oyster has no good butter at his stand, in the European iron, while American furnaces are Centre Market, there is not none nowhere else; neglected. We are informed that the last blast in Virginia has been extinguished, and Pennsylvania has unquestionably suffered extensively. We hope, however, that single items their jackets in boiling water. Fact! in the tariff may be amended, without an attempt at a general revision.

W. W. CORCORAN, the eminent banker of Washington, has presented to the Rev. Stephen P. Hill, pastor of the First Baptist Church of that city, (formerly of Baltimore,) a new and elegant dwelling, besides making several hand-some donations to the church.—N. Y. Courier

The Rev. Mr. Hill is a most exemplary, modest, and pious gentleman, and his estimable lady is a sister of Mr. Corcoran. Rich in every ceived, kindly taken care of, and sent on their thing else adapted to cheer them onward in the journey of life, this generous donation has sonal supervision to every department, and the been well bestowed-not upon Mr. Hill, but result is apparent. The Boston Bee is sometimes profuse n the use of its honey. It says of the great Ten-Pounder (or X-pounder) that "the people will gladly rally under the glorious banner of such a glorious leader. The whole country, sick and tired of narrow party candidates, will be glad to put such a man up for the universal suffrage; a candidate who unites the patriotism and nationality of Washington, with the great statesmanship of a Brougham. Mr. Webster is great in deglutition, but we doubt that even he can swallow all this; while it falls on the ears of the people like raindrops on a duck's back. He is an illustrious manneither his country nor his age has seen greater; but presidential votes will prove of no more service to him than would an umbrella to a swimming mackerel.

THE FRIDAY NIGHT PISTOL-SHOOTING .- We are gratified to learn that John Edwards, John Johnson, and William Romele, by whom with their companions four of the Auxiliary Guard were attacked, and officer Grant fired at, and officer William Hickison wounded, were pursued to Piscataway by officers Coxe, Davis, and Wollard, and arrested yesterday morning, and brought back to this city. After an examination before Justice Goddard, they were each required to give bail in the sum of one thousand lollars; in default of which Edwards and Romele were committed to jail. Johnson gave the security required, but was sent to prison on account of debts resulting from former proceedings against him in the criminal court.

The newspapers keep telling us about an English countess, young and blooming, who has taken up her abode at St. Augustine, Florida, for a certain period, in order to obtain divorce from her antiquated husband. Now, although we are not exactly young and blooming, we are by no means antiquated. On the contrary, we are vastly agreeable and very winning in our ways, and this "countess, young and blooming," is beginning to captivate our fancy. Why will folks thus tempt a too susceptible heart?

CENTRE MARKET .- It was full this morning of buyers, sellers, and sellables. In every point of view, the idea of abundance was suggested: even the purses and pocket-books all appeared to be well charged. The best cuts of beef sold at 8 cents per lb.; veal, 8; mutton, 8; pork, 9; salt pork, 9; hams, 121; lard, 10; sausages, 10; butter, 20@31; eggs, 25 per dozen; turkeys, 75@$1.25 apiece; geese, 50@75; ducks, 62@75 per pair; chickens, 37@62; Irish potatoes, 25@37 per peck; sweet potatoes, 20@25 turnips, 12@20; cabbages, 3@8 per head; celery, 6; pumpkins, 6@12 apiece; apples, 25@ 75 per peck; dried apples, 6 per quart; peaches, 12; cherries, 15.

Railroads and Progress.

New Haven is some seventy-three miles from New York. Our special reporter left at nine o'clock in the morning, and, after dining and taking a walk around the "City of Elms," attended the meeting, took notes for nearly two hours and a half, and was home here at the office at a quarter after eight o'clock in the evening to write out his report.

The proposed line of railroad—cutting off the large angle on which Springfield and Hartford are situated, and running east of those townsshortens the distance between New York and Boston by about thirty miles, thus reducing the entire length to about two hundred miles, which it is proposed to traverse in six hours.

The railroad and the telegraph are destined to work wonders in the United States, eclipsing all that is past. These great agents for the civilization of man and the interchange of human thought are as yet in their infancy. The contemplation of what revolutions they will hereafter accomplish, if these changes could only be brought before the mental vision as in a panorama, would startle the boldest and most speculative, wind speculative mind. They are too vast for the most far-sighted human ken. But we can all see some of the results that necessarily flow, even from present data. Let us point them out.

As Professor Silliman observed at the New Haven convention, a speed of seventy-two miles an hour is no uncommmon thing in England, and fifty miles is the average on some roads. What is done in England can be done here. It was not long since believed that the speed of the ocean steamers of Great Britain was unapproachable. Collins' line of American steamers has disposed of that fallacy. Already the locomotives of the Hudson River Railroad and the Eric Railroad have actually run fifty miles per hour. What has been done for one hour, or three hours, may be done for a thousand hours. A steam engine does not weary like a horse. What has been done on part of a line may be done on the whole of it, and what has been done on one line may be done on any number of lines. That a speed of seventy-five miles an hour will be attained at no distant day, there is every reason to believe. But, taking the moderate estimate of fifty miles per hour. which has been already achieved, what is the grand result? Why, that in a very short time we shall be enabled to reach New Orleans in two days; San Francisco will be gained in about three days, or, at most, four—a point which, only a few years ago, it took as many months to reach, and even now a period of twenty-eight days is regarded as a wonderfully rapid transit.

In England, a higher speed is attained on railroads than in this country, because they are more substantially built, and the population is greater in proportion to the distance over which they extend. We are now a nation of 25,000,000; but when the population of the U. States is doubled. not only will railroads cover the country like a network, but they will be built in such a way that, with the improvements that spring from the overteeming active brains of our scientific and practical men, fifty miles an hour will be regarded as mere ordinary speed. The giant strides of young America, with its free institu-tions, its placers of silver and gold, its inex-haustible resources, its uniform language, and its homogeneous race, are not to be estimated by the slow, crippled movements of the povertystricken, monarchy-ridden, decrepid, and slaved nations of Europe.—N. Y. Herald.

THE DEAD SEA AND THE SALT LAKE .- Mr Robert J. Graves, M. D., has communicated to the Edinburg Philosophical Journal a very in-teresting article on the causes why the waters of the Dead Sea are destitute of fish and other marine animals. The Dead Sea contains no living thing within its fatel boundaries, yet this salt sea, so famous in story, is supplied with water from fresh water rivers which abound in fish and vegetables. The surface of the Dead Sea is 1300 feet below the level of the Mediter-ranean, is 1000 deep, 60 miles long and 9 broad. It receives all the waters of the Sea of Galilee. A correct chart of the old lake was never given to the world until the expedition under Lieut Lynch surveyed it. The full credit of this important fact is given to our country by Mr. Graves. It had been stated by Dr. Robinson and Mr. Warburton, that the shores of the Dead Sea were non-volcanic, but the expedition brought home specimens of lava and scoris, thus refuting former accounts.

There is another sea in the world just like the Dead Sea of Sodom; this is the Great Salt Lake of the Mormon country, discovered and explored by Lieutenant Fremont. This lake contains no living thing within its bosom, and it also receives the fresh waters of Lake Utah.

The waters of the Dead Sea of Jordan contain twenty-four per cent. of saline matter, consisting of chlorides of petassium, sodium, calcium, magnesium, iron, manganese, with bromide of magnesium. This saline impregna-tion accounts for the absence of all vegetable and animal life. The waters of the Great American Salt Lake are nearly of the same composition, and present similar phenomena to that of the Sea of Sodom.
